1. Introduction

The criminal system in Indonesia started with the justice Minister Mr Sahardjo in a conference of Prisoner in Lembang year 1963 when he received the award. The Institute of Education's establishment that provides sources that combine in carrying out the law offenders' habilitation is necessary. 1963 Mr Sahardjo believes that the term prison should be improved by introducing the term Correctional institution. [1] According to Barda Nawawi Arief (2002), criminal detention has undergone a fundamental change as it is poured into the Correctional system, when the Correctional system of Correctional business is based on the healing of prisoners' behaviour, the construction of guiding prisoners and the pair of prisoners to be able to be turned to the midst of society. [2] Correctional Institution (Lapas) Expected not just the place of people who are guilty to serve the period, but rather the penitentiary institution can be a place to build, to nurture and to store prisoners so that after undergoing the period of criminal prison can turn to the middle of the family and society and can live independently who are equipped during the construction institution. [3]

We understand what is outlined in Standard Minimum Rules (SMR), in which an excellent residential room should be able to provide the mobility space for every prisoner either to sleep or other activities in the place of the residence. [4] Overcrowded that occurs today is not accompanied by the improvement of facilities and supporting facilities built for prisoners and prisoners that exist. It should then be Correctional to overcome the above-crowded conditions in many Correctional institutions and the state detention house in most Indonesia. [5] Following the state of Lapas and Rutan residential content, more than half of Correctional Institution (Lapas) and State Detention House (Rutan) have an excess single from its capacity. [6]

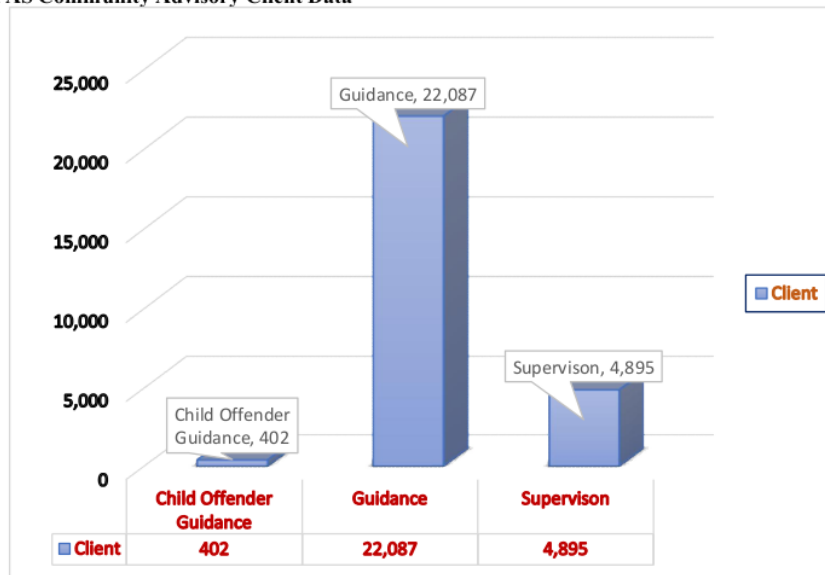

Table 1. Comparison Of Lapas/Rutan Content And Lapas/Rutan, The Drain Capacity

Based on the data above, there is an excess number of occupants in Correctional Institution and State Detention House throughout Indonesia.[7] The table above depicts the situation is overcrowded when the housing capacity was filled to exceed the position, and this condition occurs both in the Lapas/Rutan. In the following, we can also see the data on Community advisory clients throughout the BAPAS in Indonesia.[8]

Table 2. BAPAS Community Advisory Client Data

Source: SMS Gateway System-Ditjen PAS

Based on the data above, if the social reintegration program can be realized, it will reduce the housing occupancy on the Lapas/Rutan. [9] The crowded situation in which he was a Correctional work unit to be an issue in the construction of prisoners. An increasingly dense prisoners condition can be at risk of conflict in prison; this condition is ultimately the policy in the Lapas is more concentrated on the realization of safe prison conditions or in other words, the concentration on the security approach is more prominent so that the development activities and social rehabilitation in the Prisons are not maximums. [10] The statement of this condition can be taken by the acceleration of the social reintegration program, and to support the social reintegration activities of the community development role becomes very vital. The purpose of mentoring tutoring in participating in the acceleration program of the implementation of social reintegration is undoubtedly expected to be very helpful in reducing the density of residential in the Lapas/Rutan. [11]

Overcrowded, which took place in Lapas/Rutan in Indonesia, can potentially harm the war criminal and the child because the fundamental right received is not maximized because of the condition. [12] Correctional system organizers should be able to find the right formula to overcome the situation crowded, where if this condition is not dealt with severely in the future can cause problems in the institution can even cause a loss of good for individuals such as not fulfilled the fundamental rights of every holder of an inmate and child, including his family. [13] A Correctional institution as a party that organizes the penitentiary system in Indonesia should work more maximally to overcome overcrowding so that this condition can be appropriately solved so that the institution's development program and social rehabilitation can be done well. [14] The condition must accelerate Social reintegration implementation, which includes social reintegration for child and prisoners. This acceleration program is an implementation of the Circular Director general of Correctional number: PAS-1386. PK. 01.04.06 years 2019 on the implementation of social reintegration program. [15]

Progressive Directorate General of Correctional with the acceleration of the Social reintegration program to overcome overcrowding is very urgent to be realized immediately by the ranks of Correctional. [16] The social reintegration program's application is carried out by simplifying administrative requirements on the awarding of Social reintegration program for children and general criminal prisoners. [17] The measure undertaken include: community search made by community advisory arrangement [4] to seek the contents of the document, the community advisory has the guarantor's responsibility, and optimizes the role of a community advisory in allizing the social reintegration program. Tested this search shows how a community advisory role in implementing a social reintegration program and understanding what factors impact a community advisory role in a social reintegration program. [18]

In this case, the success of the country, the Correctional Directorate, becomes very important to reduce the condition of overcrowded. Hopefully, the role of a community advisory in the implementation of the social reintegration program can improve the performance of coaching and rehabilitation programs in the prison so that it can eventually realize the correctional purpose as mandated in Law number 12 the year 1995 about the penitentiary system. [19]

Based on the introduction that has been stated, the novelty put forward in this study is: The Role of Community Advisory in the Social reintegration of Child Clients during the Covid19 Pandemic will contribute to overcoming overcrowding in correctional institutions and the current of criminal acts by prisoners in Indonesia.

2. Research Methodology [4]

In a study titled The Role of Community Advisory in the Social reintegration of Child Clients during the Covid19 Pandemic, qualitative search methods are used. [20] Bogdan and Taylor search with a qualitative approach is a search model that gives a detailed result or picture to explain the findings' results derived from data collected from the field or material compiled from the documentation study obtained from various libraries. [21,22] In search with a qualitative approach that is the focus of the study is how important the source of data generated by the respondents involved in the collection of data, as well as the situation faced by searchers when conducting search should be able to understand the case where the search is taking place so that the condition of the reality encountered by searchers so that it will strengthen the descriptive argument of the study. [23]

In the collection of engineering data, the amount plan used will be a role so that the data is gathered well so that it can provide an excellent argument to process data, whether the data obtained in the field or primary or data collected by the study results of documentation or secondary data. [24] Primary data is the author's data with a particular purpose related to the search. Secondary information is a source of data that has been acquired by collecting literature sources that correlate with this search. [25] Primary Data collected in-depth interviews refers to unstructured observation [4] or interviews or qualitative interviews. In-depth interviews with critical informants for this search can explain how a community advisory role in social reintegration child client during covid19 pandemic in the working area of Palembang Correctional Hall, thus obtained primary data. [26] Documentation Studies a activities to compile data from literary references ranging from scientific journals, books, and other data to produce introductory notes to support this search and not based on estimates. [21] In this study, documentation studies conducted by the authors linked with documents that become administrative requirements in the implementation of social reintegration for children client during covid19 pandemic who are used as part of a literature study relevant to the discussion. [27]

Extracting data sourced from data from both the findings of the field and data based on the results of secondary data processing will make a valuable contribution in a study so that it can find a breakthrough that can be used as a model of findings that will be a fence to the previous search. [28,29] The source data obtained will be comprehension related to the community advisory role in Social reintegration program to reveal the conditions that occur and ideal that should be maintained. [30] To complement and improve search to achieve the maximum of a result, data collection with the following data collection techniques :

1. Observation

Lexy J. Moleong (2002) explained that observation is an activity conducted by researchers by doing inspections. The search object searched can directly meet with researchers to record the observed respondents and the ongoing observation activities. It can be concluded that observation is an observation that allows researchers to see, observe itself, and record behaviours and functions as it is in actual circumstances. [30,31] The purpose of consideration is to conduct activities to find the social reintegration program that has been running so that the need for operations in setting to learn, the community advisory is involved in the performance of Social reintegration program in the working area of Palembang Correctional Hall. [33]

2. Interview

Moehar Daniel (2003), in Social search method, explains that: An interview is a series of data-related activities conducted by a researcher by attending a Live Meeting of Face-to-face activities between researchers and informants, and researchers have prepared the study instrument in the form of interview guides. [34] An Interview guide compiled by researchers as a guiding tool in asking the informant is known as the interview guide. Interviews collect information from the informant using the interview guidelines marked with the searcher's effort to gather data in a very detailed, namely against the various phenomena that have to do with the primary information to be collected. [35] In-depth interviews with key informants for this study can explain how the community advisory roles to implement the Social reintegration program to obtain primary data from documentation studies. [2,35]

Social reintegration program is from the correctional system where by prisoners have the right to be granted social reintegration program throughout the prisoners, and children have qualified administration and substantive. [44] Directorate General of Correctional Ministry of Law and Human Rights RI makes a breakthrough in countermeasures overcrowded by accelerating social integration programs' implementation to control the number of Detention House of state and Correctional institution inhabitants, which continues to show significant incases in numbers over time.[45] According to Dr Sri Puguh Budi Utami, as Director-General of the Association, the mandate in vitalizing Correctional implementation could be realized if all disciplinary components can occur as they should the penitentiary purpose can be appropriately implemented.

Social reintegration program by seeking acceleration of Social reintegration program provision for children and prisoners as the circular letter of the Director general of Correctional Number: PAS-1386. PK. 01.04.06, the year 2019.

The role of a community advisory in the social reintegration program, among others:

a. Simplification of the contents of community search documents (Community search) of social reintegration program.

One of the important tasks undertaken by the Correctional Hall is to implement community search. Community search is a collection of valuable materials from lawbaker yang compiled by a community advisory, psented in the form of a port that clearly describes the circumstances and background of a person at psent, thein coved by analysis and conclusion of the situation and the determination of the steps that will be taken to plan the next guidance program.

b. Role of Community advisory as guarantor

In the Community advisory module, the assurance can be a person; this person's guarantee is ferd to as guarantor (article 36 PP No. 27 the year 1983 on the implementation of KUHAP). A guarantor is a party that will be sponsible for guaranteeing the prisoners to be filed for social reintegration program, and a guarantor is a person who has a lationship with the client either from an individual or an institution/organization. In the process of filing social reintegrationfor children and prisoners and has been able to have substantive terms and administrative quiments, prisoners should get the family's guarantee.[46]

In the circular social reintegration program, the community advisory supervisor is appointed as a guarantor prisoner who has no guarantor. In its implementation at the Correctional Hall Palembang, the role of community guiding as a guarantor, among others:

1. The community advisory is obliged to make a statement by completing the prisoner's guarantee letter. The letter of guarantee stated that it could guarantee the convicts/children in implementing their social reintegration program will not commit any unlawful deeds, and community advisory will assist in guiding and supervising the prisoners/children concerned.[47]
2. The community advisory supervises the prisoners/children under its supervision. Supervision performed by the community guidelines as follows:
 - a) Observe the observation and assessment of the implementation of social reintegration program, coaching, and guidance of Correctional residents based on the commendation of community search port/Determination/verdict of Judges.
 - b) They we supervising prisoners and children to be obedient, porting within the allotted period lating to the daily activities.
 - c) In implementing mentoring tutoring as a guarantor, the public instruction also has to perform the guidance in Social reintegration time. Coaching the client's Correctional client will undergo supervision by visiting the coaching stages: an early stage, an advanced stage, and the final step.
 - d) Mentoring tutoring made a *home*visit to know and know the situation/condition of the environment whe the prisoners/children a concerned.
 - e) They we conducting proposals to voke the social reintegration program when the convicts proved to have peated criminal acts.[48]

a. The role of the community advisory as a facilitator

Mentoring tutoring in acting as a facilitator in the implementation of social reintegration program by giving support, providing support to clients to appreciate the value that clients have, stngthening the client, and acknowledging the client to cognize their contributions work. [49]The support provided by a community supervisor can be formal and informal. The community advisory should build consensus with fellow parties to cooperate in the client's potential development framework. Community advisory should also be able to play a role in facilitating individual clients, group clients, and communities to increase the productivity of clients to live independently during society. [50]

Community advisory expected to demonstrate a role providing facilitative for clients to devote their capabilities revoke each client's potential, the client in the group, and the community in managing the existing and the business in which they will be efficiently and by the client. The community advisory must be able to do mediation and negotiation, which is that general guidance will act to become a mediator in utilizing sources available with other parties to expand cooperation activities by benefiting the social reintegration program for the better. [51]

d. Community advisory role as client guidance

Community advisory role in supporting clients who social reintegration as a concern for clients when clients have problems in the implementation of Social reintegration programs so that various parties can participate so that the clients typing in the community can be well received by appreciating the presence of the client as part of a community that has the right to be able to carry on the sociability of the public. [52] The community advisory involved in assisting clients to be accepted by the public through the mass media to know the work of the client individual, the group's clients, so that various components of the propositional society can take the client. [53] The facilitator, the client in implementing the social reintegration program, is an educational process that the role of society becomes very significant in the success, so various stakeholders should broadly take part in the client's role in the community. [54]

The purpose of community advisory conducting verbal and written presentations, data collection management and data analysis, the ability to use the computer, and the ability to perform financial control, and do need assessment of the development of potential clients individual group of clients and society can be a turning point in an integrated guidance process. [55]

e. Factors that inhibit the role of a community advisory in Social reintegration

The role of the Community advisory in the implementation of social reintegration the child client in Correctional Hall has been executed well, and following procedures, but the application several factors impact the role of a community advisory in the implementation of social reintegration, among others:

- 1) In the manufacture of community search for social reintegration program, the social reintegration program's application of its data excavation is less profounder. They will complicate community advisory knowing the background, life history, and challenging to see the chronology of criminal acts that the prisoners had done. It made the Correctional Hall challenging to consider in the provision of social reintegration, and in the end, Correctional Hall cannot reject the proposal without knowing the background of the prisoner/child in question;
- 2) Prisoner/children who do not perform or demonstrate good behaviour during the sentence and do not carry out obligations while in prison with Social reintegration policy, community advisory cannot reject the proposal of his social reintegration program. Thus, prisoners easily bathe mentoring outdoors without following a coaching program in the Lapas/Rutan;
- 3) The Community advisory could not guarantee morally and material the life of the prisoner, and in the supervision of the social reintegration officer, prisoners we challenging to supervise the prisoner within 24 hours x 7 days; [56]

4. Discussion

A Community advisory role in implementing a Social reintegration program is to facilitate prisoners and children to obtain the right to social reintegration. Social reintegration is expected to control the number of residents in detention houses and Correctional institutions in Indonesia, where the available occupancy of the housing can no longer provide enough space for children and prisoners. [57]

The search documents made by the general guidance as an attempt in the proposal of social reintegration program for children client, if community search document is simplified/summarized to only be two pages to ease and save the time of the extensive tutoring in the manufacture of community search, in the community search page contains the introduction, Identity, Analysis, conclusion and commendation and closing.

Judging from community search contents, which contains only two pages, it is less relevant in studying the convict data. The Community search will complicate the community advisory in knowing the background, the life history, and the problematic chronology of the prisoner's criminals that had been carried out. The apparent prisoner circumstances and experience complicate the Mentoring tutoring to plan the next guidance program. [58]

With this circular letter's lease, the community advisory gets a new workload that should be done, namely, being a guarantor is not easy. The role of community advisory as guarantors will not be optimal in guaranteeing the convicts. These due to several things: the adviser can ensure the convict's life (especially in financial/financial); the community advisory can supervise prisoners within 24 hours; community advisory can apply only to the prisoners to obey the need to port to the Correctional Hall. [59]

The study discusses the role of a community advisory in the implementation of a social reintegration program. Correctional vitalization aims: improving the function of tutoring, as outlined in article 2 point C on the regulation of the Minister of Law and HAM RI number: 35 the year 2018 on community advisory have to simplify administrative on the proposal of Social reintegration program and appointed as the guarantor of prisoner guarantor Dictor-General of Correctional number: PAS-1386. [60] Who do not have the loan 1386 PK.01.04.06 years 2019 about the implementation of the social reintegration program for children client and prisoners, the midsize involved community advisory to facilitate the proposal of Social reintegration program for children and prisoners concerning the role theory, the guided community is required to implement these roles. The analysis of data searchers to the search showed that the purpose of a community advisory in the implementation of social reintegration program related to role theory that performed by the community guidelines. [61] Community Guidance should demonstrate his role when a person carries out his rights and obligations following his position, and he performs from the dynamic aspect of the location. The Community advisory can be measured from duties and functions in conducting supervision, guidance, coaching, and Community search to implement the Social reintegration program following its position as law enforcement officers and Correctional officers. [43] Based on that understanding, to know.

It can be said that the community advisory of Palembang Correctional Hall has implemented its rights and obligations as a role in the implementation of the social reintegration program during covid19 pandemic. The community guide carried out its task to simplify the Social reintegration program's community search and be a guarantor, prisoners. Community Advisory also have the right to sanction the prisoner if they undergo a social reintegration program for the child and the prisoner during the community or peat a criminal offence. [62]

Role theory is a view of sociological and psychological described as a form of behaviour that is not otherwise displayed in the value of the norm he has to behave in community life. The role is an attack of a person's activity to run his operations a day; for example, a teacher will act in class to teach students in a class. Thus, as in the role theory, the community's expectations guiding role as guarantors can improve the behaviour of convicts in everyday life.

Community advisory role of acting as a facilitator in the implementation of the social reintegration program, by giving support, where the provision of support to the client to appreciate, acknowledge and strengthen the value owned by the client so that the community can show appreciation to the client for the work done by the client. The support provided by a community supervisor can be formal and informal help. The community advisory should build consensus with various parties to cooperate with stakeholders to develop potential in the client. The community advisory is expected to facilitate clients to increase client productivity to live independently during society.

Mentoring is expected to provide a facilitative for clients to devote their capabilities and the client in the group and the community to manage the existing and the business in which they will be efficiently and by the client. [63] Community advisory must develop, hold the mediation and negotiation; thus, a community supervisor serves as a mediator in the framework of the Utilization of sources available with the stakeholder to build cooperation so that the social reintegration program can run well.

The community advisory is a role in supporting clients who run social reintegration as a concern for clients when clients have problems in the implementation of social reintegration so that various parties can participate so that the clients typing in the community can be well received by appreciating the presence of the client as part of a community that has the right to be able to carry on the sociability of the public. The community advisory involved in assisting clients to be accepted by the public through the mass media to know the client's work, the group's clients, so that various components of the propositional society can take the client. Supervisor, the client in the implementation of social reintegration, is an educational process that the role of society becomes very significant in the success of social reintegration program's performance, so various stakeholders should be able to take part in the role of the client in the community broadly. [65]

Community advisory also related data collection, analysts data, and must have the ability to convey presentations verbally or in writing, do need assessment to the development of potential client individual and hold management and conduct financial control, and, the group of clients and society can be a turning point in an integrated guidance process. [66]

The Community advisory role in implementing the Social reintegration program at the Correctional Hall has been executed well and following procedures. Still, the application of several factors impact the role of a community advisory in the implementation of social reintegration program, among others:

1. In the manufacture of Community search reintegration of Social reintegration program, the implementation of Social reintegration program of its data mining is less profound. These will complicate community advisory knowing the background, life history, and challenging to see the chronology of criminal acts that the prisoners had done. It made the Correctional Hall challenging to consider in the provision of Social reintegration program, and in the end, Correctional Hall cannot reject the proposal without knowing the background of the prisoner/child in question;

2. Prisoner/children who do not perform or demonstrate good behaviour during the sentence and do not carry out obligations while in prison with the social reintegration program's policy can not reject the proposal of the social reintegration program. Thus, prisoners easily the Mentoring outdoors without following a coaching program in the Lapas/Rutan;
3. The Community advisory could not guarantee morally and material the life of the prisoner, and in the supervision of the community advisory prisoners, it is difficult to supervise the prisoner within 24 hours x 7 days;

5. Conclusion

Directorate General of Correctional's policy by issuing the ¹ circular letter of the Director general of Correctional Number: PAS-1386. Social reintegration officer. 01.04.06 the Year 2019 on Social reintegration implementation for children and prisoners, its main focus is to overcome the overcrowding in the Lapas/Rutan in Indonesia because the number of prisoners and children each year has an opening. This tactical step is done only to reduce the capacity and security stability from the state of overcrowding in the Lapas/Rutan in Indonesia. Social reintegration implementation with the move of social reintegration program to prisoners is not always able to run well, but the a obstacles in the application.

The community advisory role in implementing the social reintegration program is the right for children and prisoners if it has fulfilled the administrative requirements and the substantive conditions that have the purpose of the child and prisoner can turn to the midst of the community by obtaining social reintegration program. The social reintegration policy is expected to reduce the overcrowded condition in the Lapas/Rutan in almost all work units in Indonesia, and this condition requires continuous effort to be in the residency of residential in the institution. In carrying out the role of a community advisory in the implementation of social reintegration of child clients during the Covid19 Pandemic, certainly still the is slack in the field. Still, it can be solved to implement the Social reintegration program's acceleration program as expected.

The proportional Correctional Hall could meet the social reintegration program's targets to suggest providing proposals so that the children and prisoners proposed can be given a social reintegration program according to the conventional procedus. The enhancement of the community advisory role in acting as a facilitator in the implementation of Social reintegration is expected so that clients can get a chance to learn and attend an excellent guidance program when turning to the community. Establishing cooperation with various parties is undoubtedly a valuable space for the success of the social reintegration program. Similarly, the role of community advisory is a precious contribution to the social reintegration program's success that will eventually realize the realization of the Correctional vitalize program in Indonesia.
