SALES APPLICATION IN UD. UNTUNG ELECTRIC BASED WEBSITE

Khoirul Anam
Program Studi Manajemen Informatika
Jurusan Teknologi Informasi

ABSTRACT

Judging from the number of businesses, especially in the sale are popping up, competition among employers are also increasingly stringent. It makes entrepreneurs must be good at promoting of products offered, In order to remain competitive in the business world. Many media that can be used as a means of promotion, such as banners, billboards, flags, newspapers (newspaper), or online media such as facebook, blackberry messenger, twitter, website, blogspot, and many other applications. The purpose of the company is to Build a web-based sales application and sell products online. Of these problems required adannya practical applications that can provide online transaction services that can be accessed by all levels of society wherever they are. Web application can be a solution to facilitate to provide ease and convenience to buyers of electrical products. In this application development tools use UML (Unified Modeling Language) diagram consists of Usecase Diagram, Activity Diagram, Class Diagram. Participate in the development of this system using the programming language PHP application using Adobe Dreamweaver.

Keywords: Application, Sales