ABSTRACT

Financial planning is a tool to achieve the financial needs of the family-kebutuhan on the present and the future. The goal was the family can achieve financial freedom (financial freedom), free of debt, availability of cash, and are protected from any risk. Expenses that are not planned to be a problem for everyone, especially children boarding. Such a condition is necessary to have a tool that can help them to be in accordance with its financial plan. Therefore the design of an application will be made to create a financial planning for a month. Where this application when the user has to enter the amount of money received for this month, the application can automatically issue a list of plans that will be conducted during the months ahead. Thus the user finance can be planned and carried out as the money is there.
