ABSTRACT

The development of technology is now more advanced and growing faster, especially in the field of information technology. Extensive use in various areas of life that cause humans to try to make something to facilitate all activities, such as the utilization of Decision Support Support System Kos. For immigrants or someone who comes from outside the difficulty in choosing a boarding place in accordance with the wishes due to limited information. Based on these problems required a decision support system kos selection so that it can facilitate the search kos (user) to get a boarding house that will be inhabited.

Keywords: Decision support system, boarding, web