

Sistem Informasi Inventori Berbasis Web PT. PLN Area Jember
(Web-Based Information System Inventory PT PLN Area Jember)

M. Abid Ilhami
Program Studi Manajemen Informatika
Jursan Teknologi Informasi

ABSTRACT

Inventories or stocking- is a assets that are in the form the goods owned by the company that is used for operations of the company, both its power generation, transmission and distribution. PT PLN Jember has 9 unit rayon that spread across the region jember and lumajang that have each warehouse warehouse by itself, also has a warehouse storage center is under control PLN area Jember.

The aim of this research is to provide a system inventories that make it easy for users in knowing the goods stocks there is no military are stealing both that there is a military are stealing area as well as warehouse rayon. This program is readily accessible by from 9 units rayon that provides data on stocks that are Hallmarks of military are stealing. this program is able to provide information and can also update the information about data stocking-quickly and accurately.

The activities carried out by using methodology which was Waterfall. Exodus from this program is information system inventories in PT PLN area Jember, for information data data in stock work, data request, the data acceptance, consumption data, data retur, data mutations, spending data, as well as data reservation.

Keywords : Inventory. Information System, Waterfall